Description

Today's human resource professionals are leaders and managers of change. They respond to the challenges triggered by new trends in technology, increasing government involvement in the employer-employee relationship, workplace diversity, and globalization. The future belongs to organizations with human resource expertise that can lower labour costs, improve productivity, increase responsiveness to customers' needs, and build employee commitment.

As a graduate of this program, you will be ready to perform all human resources functions within the business environment. Demonstrating the skills and competencies such as the ability to communicate effectively collaborate with others and displaying initiative and perseverance, you will possess the required knowledge, skills, and abilities to be a key person within the organization.

Career Opportunities

Career opportunities are available in all sectors of the economy because every organization, whether private or not-for-profit, has a human resources function. Graduates from this program are equipped to administer human resource functions within various Canadian and international business and public sector environments. Graduates will be prepared to work within manufacturing, retail, banking and other financial institutions, medical facilities, government offices, human resource consulting firms, education and small business.

Program Learning Outcomes

2. facilitate and evaluate the performance management system to ensure alignment with the organizational strategic plan;
3. design, implement, and evaluate employee onboarding, training and development programs to meet organizational needs;
4. advise and guide invested parties on ethical, legal, professional and regulatory requirements to promote effective employee relations;
5. design and implement the total rewards plan to attract, retain and motivate employees within the organization;
6. design, implement and evaluate employee wellness, organizational health and safety systems, in accordance with applicable legislation, standards and best practices;

7. use and evaluate technology to support operational business functions related to human capital;
8. design, implement and evaluate organizational development strategies to promote operational effectiveness;
9. develop human resources practices and communication strategies that are equitable, diverse, inclusive, accessible and culturally competent;
10. create and evaluate strategies for self-development to enhance performance and maintain professional standards;
11. collaborate with invested parties to execute human capital initiatives that support the organizational business plan;
12. analyze data to forecast and recommend workforce and talent management strategies to support decision making;
13. employ environmentally sustainable practices with business careers;
14. examine the personal characteristics and circumstances associated with entrepreneurial success, from the perspective of an HR consultant or an HR employee providing HR services to entrepreneurs;
15. identify historical and contemporary inequities experienced by diverse populations to recognize the impact of identity, privilege, oppression, and bias;
16. examine personal and professional responsibilities to advance Indigenous reconciliation and affirm equity and inclusion.

Practical Experience

All co-operative education programs at Georgian contain mandatory work term experiences aligned with program learning outcomes. Co-op work terms are designed to integrate academic learning with work experience, supporting the development of industry specific competencies and employability skills.

Georgian College holds membership with, and endeavours to follow, the co-operative education guidelines set out by the Co-operative Education and Work Integrated Learning Canada (CEWIL) and Experiential and Work-Integrated Ontario (EWO) as supported by the Ministry of Colleges and Universities.

Co-op is facilitated as a supported, competitive job search process. Students are required to complete a Co-op and Career Preparation course scheduled prior to their first co-op work term. Students engage in an active co-op job search that includes applying to positions posted by Co-op Consultants, and personal networking. Co-op work terms are scheduled according to a formal sequence that alternates academic and co-op semesters as shown in the program progression below.

Programs may have additional requirements such as a valid driver's license, strong communication skills, industry specific certifications, and ability to travel. Under exceptional circumstances, a student may be unable to complete the program progression as shown below. Please refer to Georgian College Academic Regulations for details.

International co-op work terms are supported and encouraged, when aligned with program requirements.

Further information on co-op services can be found at www.GeorgianCollege.ca/co-op (<https://www.georgiancollege.ca/co-op/>)

External Recognition

Possessing a unique blend of both theoretical and practical, applied learning, this Program meets the academic course requirements of the Human Resources Professionals Association (HRPA) and the national professional standards established by the Canadian Council of Human Resources Professionals Associations.

Human Resources Professional Association (HRPA) is the governing body that regulates the Human Resources profession in Ontario.

Graduates of the program who are interested in pursuing the professional credential (CHRP or CHRL) as required by the Human Resources Professionals Association (HRPA) must successfully complete nine mandatory courses in order to be eligible to begin the designation and regulatory requirements as set by the HRPA.

Professional designation regulations and requirements are found on the HRPA website through this link: <https://www.hrpa.ca/hrdesignations/Pages/CHRP.aspx>
