Description

This program is designed for students with diverse learning challenges who require academic accommodations and modifications. Students enhance their academic and vocational knowledge and skills in both core and integrated courses, and practice this learning during field placements. Learning facilitators modify integrated courses to students' specific strengths and abilities, and provide accommodations, tutor and support sessions to ensure the work is challenging and achievable. Students prepare for success in entry-level work, and build independence and self-advocacy skills for adult life.

Career Opportunities

Graduates of the program may find a variety of entry-level jobs. Students may choose to apply to other college programs after completing the program provided admission requirements are met. All other college programs are completed without modification or Learning Facilitator support.

Program Learning Outcomes

The graduate has reliably demonstrated the ability to:

1. integrate and participate in college programs and activities;
2. practice essential skills for entry-level employment;
3. strengthen academic skills in communication and numeracy;
4. pursue learning in areas of personal, academic, and/or vocational interest;
5. practice greater independence in school and work environments;
6. strengthen interpersonal skills in school and work environments;
7. practice professional self-advocacy skills in school and work environments;
